

Across Many Oceans - The South African Jews of San Diego

SAJAC is appealing for economic support from our community to make this dream a reality. The documentary, directed by Isaac Artenstein, will chronicle, in our own words, our ancestors' journeys from Europe, to Southern Africa and then to San Diego, where our community continues to thrive and maintain our cherished Jewish cultural traditions and values. The one-hour documentary will be a treasured and inspiring legacy for present and future generations. All Donations are tax-deductible.

Isaac Artenstein is responsible for many award-winning documentaries and independent feature films. He's taught film at UCSD, USC and the University of San Diego. He has graciously kept the budget as low as possible by providing in-kind services, while keeping the same production value of a nationally broadcast PBS documentary, such as his recent "To the Ends of the Earth: A Portrait of Jewish San Diego," currently airing on KPBS and being screened at top Jewish Film Festivals around the world.
